GRANGE ART EXHIBITION – Beginning on 23rd Fri, Grange Hall, 7.30pm – Sat 31st, 6pm

Following on from last year's local ART EXHIBITION, a collaboration of local Artists (adults, teenagers and children) of all genres, from Counties Sligo, Donegal, Leitrim and Roscommon (and some from further afield) will once again gather to showcase their marvellous work at the annual Art Exhibition on Friday August 23rd at Grange Parochial Hall, from 7.30pm and continuing until 6pm, Saturday August 31st. Local artist Eamonn Dowdican who is the force behind this exhibition whose work is mainly landscape in oils, inspired by the beauty of the local Sligo countryside, teaches and advises all of these participating artists regularly at his art room in Grange throughout the year. He believes that there is an artist in everyone of us only waiting to emerge. Eamonn is always delighted by the standard of local talent and proudly relishes the opportunity to facilitate these talented people to come together every year to exhibit their work. This is a great chance for everyone to come along, free of charge and marvel at the skills of all of these talented artists and enjoy this opportunity to view and even purchase some original pieces of art. This years exhibition will be opened by singer Charlie McGettigan and is in aid of the local St Vincent de Paul. All contributions will be very welcome.

Priest celebrates 100th birthday with his four sons who are priests also!

Father, priest, father of priests, centenarian, author, disciple of Padre Pio, Veteran of World War II ... Perhaps we could think of Fr. Probo Vaccarini as a sort of spiritual Forrest Gump: someone who has received all 7 sacraments—some from his own children—and conferred most of them as well, and who has seen some of the most significant events and personalities of the 20th and 21st centuries first-hand. He turned 100 years old on June 4, and he celebrated the occasion by concelebrating a Mass presided over by Bishop Francesco Labiasi, of Rimini, Italy (the diocese where Fr. Vaccarini ministers), and with his four sons who are also priests. Cardinal Pietro Parolin, Secretary of State of the Vatican, sent a message relaying a message of congratulations and a papal blessing from Pope Francis, read aloud during the Eucharistic celebration.
